Welcome Letter

On behalf of the Montgomery County, Maryland Food Council, we are honored to release this first edition of the Food and Beverage Guide, which highlights the diverse array of food and beverage products produced in the County or made by businesses headquartered here.

Encouraging residents and businesses to eat and drink locally is central to our mission of creating a more robust and sustainable food system in our County. There are extensive economic, health, and environmental benefits of eating locally: we support businesses in our community, create jobs for local residents, consume products of greater nutritional value, and minimize our carbon footprint.

While this guide includes locally-made packaged products, beverages, baked goods, confections, and more, we also encourage residents to buy fruits and vegetables, meat, and dairy from Montgomery County farms. A Montgomery County Farm Directory is published annually and is available at:

<http://www.montgomerycountymd.gov/agservices/>.

Check websites for product availability, which ranges from online ordering to local farmers' markets, small retailers and regional and national supermarket chains. Please note that this guide is not comprehensive and all information is subject to change. Product information has been provided by the businesses.

We hope you enjoy these delicious opportunities to support our local businesses and residents.

Cheers!

Heather Bruskin

Manager, Montgomery County Food Council

About the MoCo Food Council:

The Food Council is an independent nonprofit with the mission of connecting all individuals and organizations interested in improving the environmental, economic, social, and nutritional health of the County. The Food Council was formed in 2011 and has 25 members, including chefs, food entrepreneurs, and representatives of local government, nonprofits, and businesses. Food Council activities are accomplished primarily through our four Working Groups: monthly gatherings open to the public. This guide is an initiative of the Food Economy Working Group, which supports our County's farmers and food and beverage artisans and makes connections between local producers and consumers.

The Food Council has three additional Working Groups:

- Environmental Impact: Protect and improve the environmental resources of Montgomery County related to agriculture and food, such as soil, water, and biodiversity;
- Food Recovery and Access: Increase recovery of, equitable access to, and advocacy for more healthful food for County residents by building the capacity of food-related organizations, reducing food waste, and strengthening collaboration; and
- Food Literacy: Improve eating habits through advocacy and education on healthy food choices, cooking skills, school and community gardening, food safety, and food marketing.

Join us in building a more healthful and sustainable community and support the creation of a robust local food system. Participate in a working group, subscribe to our newsletter, and encourage others to eat and drink locally! For more information, visit www.mocofoodcouncil.org or follow mocofoodcouncil on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram.

This publication is made possible with support from the Town Creek Foundation, Mead Family Foundation, the Montgomery County Council and the Office of the County Executive.
