WELCOME

On behalf of the Montgomery County, Maryland, Food Council, we are proud to release the fourth edition of our Food and Beverage Guide, which highlights the diverse array of foods and beverages produced by farms and kitchens in our County or made by businesses headquartered here.

Eating & drinking locally benefits our economy, environment, & health

A key component of the Food Council's mission is to strengthen connections between County food and beverage businesses and farms and DMV area consumers and retailers, in order to increase visibility and market opportunities for MoCo Made products. Eating and drinking locally brings significant economic, environmental, and health benefits to our County. When we buy locally at farmers markets and CSAs, we double the dollars invested in our local economy when compared to shopping at national chain stores. Just-picked produce from a Montgomery County farm is more nutrient dense than produce grown hundreds or thousands of miles away. Additionally, making a local food choice promotes sustainability by reducing transportation emissions.

Support MoCo Made businesses: owned by residents & creating jobs in our communities

Every business featured in this Guide participates in the Food Council's MoCo Made program, which includes educational, business development, and networking opportunities for Montgomery County food and beverage entrepreneurs. We also regularly host community engagement events, such as MoCo Made Days and Happy Hours, to connect food and beverage businesses with each other, Montgomery County residents, and large-scale buyers. MoCo Made window decals, shelf labels, and stickers can be found at farmers markets, farms, supermarkets, and other retail locations around the County, and serve as a reminder of how easy it can be to eat and drink locally!

Please note that this guide is not comprehensive and all information is subject to change. Product information has been provided by the businesses.

Join our efforts!

The Food Council is an independent nonprofit connecting all individuals and organizations committed to cultivating a robust, sustainable, and equitable local food system in Montgomery County. The Food Council was formed in 2011 and has 25 members, including chefs, food entrepreneurs, and representatives of local government, nonprofits, and business.

We invite you to join the Food Council's efforts by participating in one of our working groups: Environmental Impact, Food Economy, Food Education, and Food Recovery and Access. All groups meet monthly and are open to the public. Visit mocofoodcouncil.org/priorities/ to learn more.

Thank you and cheers!

Heather Bruskin
Executive Director
